

Sharon Cavusgil, Senior Lecturer, Department of Applied Linguistics & ESL

Sharon designs and teaches academic English courses for graduate and undergraduate students studying public health, public policy, sciences, business, arts, and education. She is co/author of several textbooks, including College Writing and Looking Ahead: Introduction to Academic Writing. She is also involved in program management and enjoys creating opportunities to help students develop their English language and intercultural competence for academic and professional success. To learn more, click here.